

Ages of Rock

On the planet around 10,000 BC there was a wide variety of different creatures. Some were dominant, deadly and aggressive, while others were passive and harmless. They had a mixed relationship with the human race – some acted as companions, while others became the hunters and the rest the hunted.

In Ages of Rock, you can travel back to this time in history. You follow the daily lives of Bob and Elga and witness how they used to eat, sleep and breathe at a time when they were still hunter gatherers and scribbling murals onto rocky walls.
